Wallace Incident Has Wide Effect

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 PERHAPS the less said about President Truman's position toward the recent foreign-policy speech of Mr. Henry Wallace, the better. He made a mistake, which caused a serious situation. When he realized this, he admitted the mistake, expressed regret, did what he could to retrieve

A MAN can do no more than that and it is unkind to keep rubbing in as some insist upon doing. At least he did not emulate the unpleasant example of the late Mr. Roosevetl, who made similar mistakes but never admitted them. The Roosevelt method was to assert that the correspondents were all liars: that he had been misquoted and the press generally, being "reactionary," was not to be believed and deliberately misrepresented him. This is one Roosevelt policy which, to Mr. Truman's credit, he seems man enough not to carry out. You can believe either that he had not read the speech when he indorsed it: or that he did not understand it; or that he was, for political reasons trying to placate Mr. Wallace and his left-wing friends. None of these reasons is either adequate or creditable but the fact that he acknowledged his mistake instead of denying it, assumed the blame himself instead of trying to make the reporters "hold the bag." entitles him to a certain respect.

Episcopalians Renounce U.N. As Peacemaker

Support Federation Of Democracies Suggested By Former Justice Roberts

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20—(INS) -The Protestant Episcopal church Thursday renounced the United Nations as an effective instrument for world peace.

Instead, the 55th Triennial Gencal Convention of the Church supported a proposed World Federation d Democracies suggested by former U. S. Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts.

A resolution endorsing Roberts plan was adopted by the House of Bishops. Earlier, the House of Deputies had approved the resolution. The bishops, however, deleted references in the original resolution which called the UN a "futile instrument for world peace

As adopted, the resolution endorsed accomplishments of the UN to date and appealed to President Truman and congress to work toward strengthening UN powers.

At the same time, however, the resolution urged "eventual organization" of a "more powerful and representative world government".

"The United Nations", the resolution said, "is our present best hope, and the only established agency through which the peoples of the world can at this time pur-

But, the resolution added, for the establishment of an "enduring world peace" a much stronger instrument of world government "is requisite than is the United Nations as at present constituted'

Battle Lines For Election Drawn

Prepare For Lively Election Campaign In State Before November 5

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Sept. 20.-Battle lines have been drawn for the campaign leading to the general election November 5. as the campaign has progressed thus far, it nas become apparent that one issue in Pennsylvania this fall will be Communism. . The Republican platform, adopted by the G. O. P. State committee at Pittsburgh September 7, contained a plank charging that "the insidious poison of Communism has been injected into the blood and sinew of the Democratic party". . The Democratic platform endorsed by their state committee at Harrisburg September 11 was silent on Communism and party leaders laughed off the G. O. P. charges during the meeting.

Democratic State Chairman J. Warren Mickle's threat of dismissal for the commonwealth's 40,000 state employes if the Democrats should regain control of the state government this fall was not unexpected at the state capitol. . Mickle has promised there would be "lots of jobs" available if the Democrats emerged victorious in the fall election but emphasized that the posts would go to counties which "produced". . Some leaders anticipate there will be a turnover of state workers regardless of which party wins the election.

ployes over recent wage increases has swept commonwealth offices. Some workers claim to have rehave not been placed in 'ine for boosts. . Several employes in the governor's office have not received any increase although two pay periods have passed. . Reports current on capitol hill indicate Gov. Edward Martin was "high pressured" into approving the new wage scale against his better judgment. The governor has insisted, however, that increases would be approved only for meritorious service to the state. Many employes, however, received increases prior to the announcethus failed to qualify for higher salaries. During the past two Republican administrations, minimum state salaries have been raised from $960 a year to $1428.

One Democrat close to his state committee has voiced the prediction that Republicans figured to sweep all of Pennsylvania's 67 counties with the exception of about eight in western Pennsylvania where Democrats have top-heavy registration pluralities. . According to the last official registration. Democrats had registration majorities in 14 referendum on Sunday baseball and football has been ordered on the ballots of Wiconisco townhip voters at the general election November 5 by the Dauphin county commissioners. . The referendum was ordered after petitions signed by 173 township residents were presented to the commissioners.

Democrate leaders have become optimistic about their chances of carrying Philadelphia in the Fall election. . Chieftains have reported that the Quaker City, led by Cong. Michael Bradley, was intensifying its drive to break the Republican leaders claim their organization has the city for their state-wide candidates at the Fall election. . Republicans claim the city is "in the bag"

The State Health department has published a new booklet entitled "Don't look now-but your teath are showing". . Care of the teeth through proper brushing, seeing the dentist, and eating the kinds of food that build and protect teeth is discussed in the booklet, the department said.

BRISTLES DOWN

Bristles down is the rule to remember when drying many household brushes. Hair brushes, nail brushes, tooth brushes, and scrub brushes should not be turned on their backs to dry, as is the common practice because this allows water to stand on the place where the bristles are fastened and loosen them. Brushes with wooden backs especially may be harmed by drying

Most other brushes, brooms included, should be hung up to dry, and should be kept hanging at all times when not in use Flat brushes like brooms and paint brushes should hang with their bristles down. If left resting on their bristles, they soon get out of shape. Many brushes are made with a hole or screw eye at the end of the handle. This is an obvious hint from the manufacturer as to proper care.

To Help Amputees

stump without being stared at, and smoke awhile before going to work

Purpose of the organization, now nearly two years old, is to help amputees get back to a normal sort of life as quickly as possible. Although currently it is concentrating on veterans, since they make up the majority of its membership. its original founders were non-veterans and it has many members whose amputations resulted from accidents in civilian life.

The job-getting angle is one of the most important, and firms in Cleveland and nearby areas have cooperated whole-heartedly with the But Only On Score project. As a result, the army's Percy Jones Hospital Center at Battle Creek, Mich., not long ago requested "Possibilities Unlimited" to aid in locating jobs for various amputee veterans now being released on 30-day convalescent leave.

A portion of the money realized from the sale of the discarded cans has been lying dormant up at the Oak street grade school on the East Side, up until a few days ago when it was decided to make good

The teachers of the school, according to John N. Cornelius, the principal, have purchased beautiful colored pictures depicting many scenes that are especially interesting to children of grade school age guests. and have hung them throughout the building, replacing the old ones that hung there.

The pictures are not the only new addition to the school as two new teachers have made their appearance on the school faculty. Miss Anna Mae Reed and Miss Helen McCurley were the two new teachers who were greeted by the returning boys and girls, when they began their school year

According to Mr. Cornelius, who is also principal of the Rose Aveand girls are in for real treats in the line of motion pictures which will be shown to them during the coming year. The pictures are a part of the visual aid program. Next Monday the boys and girls will witness the showing of Robinson Crusoe; on October 7 they will see three reels made of Marine Nightingale and Michigan Beaver Pictures: November 8, Indian Dances of the Southeast and Chubby's Stratosphere Flight; November 22, Pilgrim Fathers; November 25, Black Beauty, and December 12, Christmas Films.

Plans are under way also to show slide pictures from the Pennsylvania State Museum at Harrisburg. One new teacher is on the Rose Avenue staff, she being Miss Louise Atwell, first grade teacher from

VA Reports Good Progress In Aid Of War's Disabled

Acquirement Of Hospitals, Better Care Speeding Recovery Of Wounded Vets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(INS) - The Veterans Administration today reported sharp progress in its efforts to speed the recovery or rehabilitation of the nation's war-

Dr. Paul R. Hawley, VA chief medical director, noted the following recent developments in the aged physically or mentally during

1. The VA this month has taken over five additional "surplus" army and navy hospitals, adding a total of 3,550 beds to existing facilities. 2. "Home town" medical care for disabilities is in full operation in 13 states, contracts with state medical groups have been signed in five other states, and final approval of agreements is awaited in two

Business opportunities for veterans are expanding throughout the nation, with the opening of new VA offices. Operation of small vending stands is offered as a business opportunity to sightless ex-GI's in all VA

4. Under a new fee-schedule program worked out in co-operation with the American Dental associanected dental conditions now are given a free choice of private dentists when VA dental clinic service is not feasibly available. The program covers the entire country.

However, Germans with whom his correspondent has discussed ne matter believed that the majority of the former German soldiers are still too bitter against Russia to pay more than lip service to any communist ideas they may have been exposed to.

Bitter Against Russians Most observers are agreed that bitterness against Russia is one of the most conspicuous characteristics of the German mentality today. The existence of this hostility admitted even by Germans who have been friends of Russia. The Russians appear to be fully aware of their unpopularity and here is considerable evidence that they have recently become more anxious to curry favor among the Germans.

The release of prisoners in one example. Another is the recently announced increase in rations in the Russian zone.

There is also a strong tendency to lavish honors upon Germany's great men. A case in point is the removal of the body of Gernart Hauptmann, the distinguished poet and gramatist, from Silesia to Berlin-a ceremony accompanied by a great deal of newspaper publicity. Hauptmann died shortly before plans to install him in a home in

Crop Forecast Continues Good In Commonwealth

Hot Weather This Month Causing Crops To Make Comeback

HARRISBURG; Sept. 20.-With August temperatures averaging five degrees below normal, development of field crops on Pennsylvania farms was retarded, but hot weather of early Septemebr brought some degree of recovery and prospects still hold for the best production since 1942, according to Miles Horst, state secretary of agriculture.

There was no reduction during August in federal-state estimates on the 1946 corn crop which on September 1 was indicated at 58.824.000 bushels, about 750,000 under last year. At that time farmers said late-planted corn would need at least a full month of favorable weather and even then there will be little ear corn in northern counties where much of the stand did not pollinate well.

Variable Frosts

Due to variable conditions, killing frost dates cannot be determined for a given area, Secretary Horst explained. Generally they come to most sections of the state between September 20 and 30, but much earlier in higher elevations in the northern part of the state

Plowing for seeding of winter grains was well under way by September 1. About half the barley was sown and a few fields of winter wheat were seeded in advance of the fly-free date. Barley was an excellent crop and the etsimated production of oats was advanced during August by more than 1.000 .-000 bushels. Except for potatoes, rye and buckwheat, all field crops this year will exceed production averages for the 10-year period, 1935 to 1944.

Production Figures

Winter wheat production for 1946 is now estimated at 19,755,000 bush els. oats 30.168.000 bushels, barley 3,478,000 bushels, rye 560,000 bushels, buckwheat 2.340,000 bushels, potatoes 18.630,000 bushels, tobacco 57, 350,000 pounds and all tame hay 3.

Potato production estimates advanced more than 1.000.000 busnels during August. Weather was favorable for growth of tobacco and the estimated production was increased four million pounds. Commercial growers are freely predicting the potato crop will be the best in many years. The estimated yield per acre advanced during the month from 127 to 135 bushels, largely due to regular spraying for disease and the use of DDT to control insects.
